POLITICAL DRIVE IN DIXIE PLANNED

Many States In Solid South In Jurisdiction Of R. L. Corley

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—R. L. Corley, of Atlanta, today was selected director of the LaFollette-Wheeler campaign for Southern states. He will have headquarters in Birmingham. Phil Painter, of Birmingham, supporter of William G. McAdoo during the pre-convention campaign, was designated as one of the two campaign managers in the south to co-operate with Mr. Corley. The other will be selected later.

Mr. Corley will have jurisdiction over Virginia, West Virginia, North and South Carolina, Alabama, Florida, Georgia, Tennessee, Kentucky, Mississippi and Louisiana. In announcing the appointments LaFollette-headquarters made public a statement by Mr. Painter, declaring that "Senator LaFollette and Wheeler stand for essentially the same progressive principles that Mr. McAdoo stands for."

He added that by working for the independent ticket, "I shall feel that I, in no way, compromise my principles as a progressive Democrat."

FRENCH SENATE RATIFIES TREATY

(Associated Press)
PARIS, August 27.—The French senate today ratified the treaty of Lausanne with only 20 negative votes, after a debate of two hours. The chamber had voted ratification on Monday and thus the senate's action today gives official French adherence to the treaty which was signed July 24, 1923, re-establishing peace in the near east.

France is the fourth power to ratify the treaty, which became effective on August 6 on its third ratification, that of Great Britain. Italy and Japan previously had voted their adherence.

MONEY IS BLAMED BY CROWE AS MOTIVE BEHIND FRANKS MURDER

(Associated Press)
CHICAGO, Aug. 27.—Money was the controlling motive in the kidnapping and murder of young Bobbie Franks, State's Attorney Robert E. Crowe argued today in continuing his plea before Judge John Caverly for the death penalty for Nathan Leopold, Jr., and Richard Loeb.

He read, at length, from a private report of two of the defense alienists, which he said, "never had been intended for the state's attorney."

Excerpts which he declared revealed unwittingly the real motive of the crime.

"Money, money, money," shouted the prosecutor. "It is all through the case and I will show later that they needed it to pay gambling debts."

With a renewed attack upon the competency of the defense alienists describing the debility of the youthful murderers or Bobbie Franks, Mr. Crowe insisted upon a name for "this strange mental sickness, invented for this case."

From the outset the explosive argument of the prosecutor drew the objection of the defense counsel and an

COUNTY PAVING TO BE FINISHED SOON

Within a few weeks the $400,000 Morgan county road contract, signed in behalf of the county by its officials, with a number of contractors in 1922, will be completed, stated County Engineer Marion S. Bingham. Accompanied by W. E. Richardson of the Southern Surety and Bonding company, of Des Moines, Iowa, Mr. Bingham has just completed a two days inspection of the roads build under the big contract and still in course of building. Following instructions of Mr. Richardson, additional forces have been put to work on some of the contracts lest the work be not completed on contract time thereby involving the bonding company.

Work is progressing satisfactorily on all the projects during the present dry weather. Project "G" on the Florette road leading toward Ryan remains to be completed as does some additional work on project H, near Valhermosa Springs.

Mr. Bingham stated that the Columbia Asphalt company at once will do some asphalt penetration work near the country club house on the Somerville pike. Two and one-half gallons of asphalt to the square yard will be placed on this road, stated Mr. Bingham.

ensuing wrangle on technicalities called from Chief Justice John R. Caverly to whom falls the duty of fixing the sentence, the quiet and firm declaration that the "court will not consider any argument outside of the record."

Mr. Crowe once visibly irritated by the objections of the defense, turned vigorously on the bench and asserted, "They have been quoting poetry and philosophy here for four days. I don't see why we can't have a little citation from the law. We have heard everything that is in the books and of a great deal that never got into the books from the three wise men from the east, brought in by the defense; but nobody has ventured to give this mental disease a name," said Mr. Crowe.

He then endeavored again to describe the court proceedings in a case in which the defense was found by alienists to have been the victims of a newly discovered mental disease. He was checked in this citation by defense objection and court rulings but not before he voiced the charge that this is a newly discovered mental disease.

ROAD COMMISSION AGREES TO REBUILD 'ECHOLS HILL' PIKE

Repair Work Requested By Committee Is Agreed To

HIGHWAY UNIT IS GIVEN HIGH PRAISE

Local Delegation Was Treated With Every Consideration

John Patterson, D. C. Almon and Melvin Hutson, members of the Albany city council committee, named some time ago to visit the state highway commission at Montgomery in an effort to get that body to rebuild the old Somerville-Decatur county road at Echols Hill, have seen the commission, and secured its promise to do the repair work, requested, at an early date.

Messrs. Patterson, Almon and Hutson have returned from Montgomery and are greatly pleased at the consideration they and their cause received from Chairman Rogers and the other members of the commission.

In speaking of the visit Mr. Patterson stated that while the commission was running short of money, available for this part of the state, that he felt sure it would supply enough money and labor to repair the Echols hill, at least, as far as Moulton street.

It appeared that in the past the commission has made a practice of rebuilding roads throughout the state, that were originally, the regular state and county roads, and when it was shown that the Echols Hill, section was a part of the old county road, leading out of Somerville, former county seat of Morgan, the commissioners at once agreed to rebuild it.

Judge John C. Eyster and Judge William E. Skeggs, other members of the Albany city committee, were unavoidable detained and did not make the trip to Montgomery.

WEEK UNFAVORABLE TO COTTON GROWTH; MOISTURE IS NEEDED

Bolls Small In Many Areas, Government Report States

INSECT DAMAGE IS SLIGHT YET

Crops Deteriorate In Alabama As Rain Is Lacking

(Associated Press)
WASHINGTON, Aug. 27.—Crop and weather conditions in southern states during the week ending yesterday were summarized today by the department of agriculture as follows:

Abnormally high temperatures prevail in the cotton belt with rainfall generally light and of a very local character. The week, on the whole, was unfavorable for cotton and moisture is needed in nearly all sections.

Cotton made very good progress in extreme western and northwestern Texas, but it deteriorated elsewhere with bolls small and opening prematurely though insect damage is slight as a rule.

The crop either deteriorated or made only poor advance because of the heat and scanty moisture in Oklahoma, though the condition continued very good to excellent in the northwestern and northern portions. There is considerable shedding with weevil and worms becoming active in scattered localities.

There was some deterioration in central and southern Arkansas but growth was somewhat better in the northern portion.

Moisture again is needed in most of Louisiana with further complaints of shedding and premature opening. The recent rains afforded only temporary relief in northern Louisiana and southern Arkansas and it is again dry in these sections.

Cotton has withstood the drought very well in Tennessee but will suffer from now on until rain comes. Its condition continued fair to very good. Good growth during the week was poor to only fair in Mississippi and Alabama, with complaints of premature opening in southern portions of these states.

In Georgia the drought has become severe with complaints of rapid increase in shedding and premature opening of bolls in the dry sections and with generally poor progress and some deterioration.

The condition of cotton is still fairly good in South Carolina but there are increased reports of shedding.

Progress was fair in North Carolina for the state as a whole.

Condition in Alabama: Drought continuing.

God's Acre Still Devoid Of Pests

"God's acre" as planted in cotton by Robert Blackwell, Presbyterian churchman, living at No. 435 West Moulton street, Albany, has not supported a single boll weevil this year, neither have either of the nine acres near the special acre shown a single weevil.

Mr. Blackwell is a Louisville and Nashville switchman, and this year between working hours he decided to try out ten acres in cotton, giving one of the ten acres to his Maker from the very start. All the cotton is looking well, with prospects of a good crop at picking time. The proceeds from all the cotton on the special acre is to be devoted to charity.

STATE DIRECTOR OF 'CHILD WELFARE' IS VISITOR TO MORGAN

Miss Jessie L. Marriner Inspects Work In This County

EXPLAINS HOW FUNDS RAISED

Department Is Serving Needy Children All Over State

Miss Jessie L. Marriner, of Montgomery, state director of the children's welfare department of the state board of health, whose department administers the Alabama allowance from the taxes raised for child welfare, under the Sheppard-Towner bill passed at Washington in November, 1921, is here for an official visit. Miss Marriner had not visited the local health unit in about one year until this week. She expects to visit the health units at Huntsville and Birmingham before returning to her office in Montgomery.

Miss Marriner stated that tax money from the operation of the Sheppard-Towner law, for Alabama amounted to $20,836.90, and that Alabama matches that amount with a like amount. Also the director, stated that the federal government made an out-right contribution of $5,000 to the fund in addition, making the total amount of money available for the benefit of needy children in the state, $46,673.90.

Of the 67 counties in the state, 24 have health units, and 22 of the "health unit" counties have the child welfare work.

Morgan county has this work under the direction of Miss Florine Mueller, who has her office at the county health unit.

"We serve wherever needy children are found," stated Miss Marriner. "As the counties that have health units give better facilities, our department is able to accomplish more for the children in such counties as have public health units. The county directors such as Miss Mueller, visit the homes where children are in need, and advise and teach the mothers how best to care for young children from a health standpoint."

Miss Marriner stated she was pleased with the interest and co-operation the people generally were manifesting in the child welfare work.

Roofers Set High Mark In Batting Spree and Shopmen Fail To Get To Cranford

ROOFERS SET

LEAGUE STANDING
Albany-Decatur Daily	7 6 538
Louisville & Nashville	7 6 538
Alabama Power Co.	6 6 500
Decatur Cor. & Roof. Co.	5 8 428

Cranford tossed 'em across in great style Tuesday afternoon against the Louisville and Nashville Shopmen and handed the Cornicemen a decision 9-2. The Cornice southpaw hill artist let the heavy hitting Shop crew down with five scattered hits only allowing as many as two bingles in the seventh inning. Meyer started box work for the Shopmen and was hit hard coupled with the loose fielding of the shop infield. He gave way to Ezell who was accorded the same rather ragged support and confronted with the same seige gun tactics the Roofers were using in the stick line.

The Roofers started the scoring in the first when Kirby was hit by a pitched ball. Conley advanced Kirby but was caught at second. Kirby scored on Odom's terrific triple to right center, Odom being tossed out at the plate stretching for the circuit. The Shopmen came back to tie the count in the last half of the second when Donohue walloped to right center for the circuit. The third found the Cornice people hitting again Kirby was out on an infield tap. Conley walked. Odom contributed another triple, Conley counting. Odom was out on Cranford's tap. Cranford counted on Moore's second rap to left. Sneed was out at first.

In the fifth another celebration took place. Ezell's first offering was found by Odom for the full trip around. Cranford was out at second after hitting safely. Moore and Sneed singled. Humphrey was out Moore counting. Best singled. Left Fielder Cranford singled scoring Sneed. Kirby plied the ash for three sacks while Best and Cranford crossed with more runs. Conley was out at first.

The Shopmen made another effort in the seventh. Donohue was out. McMaisters singled, Thompson forced him, Thompson being safe on the play. Ezell singled after Thompson was safe at second and Thompson scored. Hendrix was unable to supply the much needed hitting ability and the scoring stopped.

The feature of the game was Odom's hitting and Cranford's hurling. Odom grabbed three out of four for a total of ten bases, two triples and a home run. He also played a nice game at first. Cranford was never in danger and walked only one man. His drop was working nicely and accounted for several strikeouts.

The loss of the game yesterday afternoon again throws the Shopmen into a tie with the Daily for first place. The Powermen are only half a game from the top while the Roofers are resting in last place with only a game and a half separating them from the top perch.

Saturday Games

Saturday afternoon the Cornicemen play the Powermen in the first game of the regular doubleheader while the Daily and the Shopmen will meet in the second affair in a struggle for the leading position.

Young Cyclists To Go To Hartselle

The young boys of Decatur and Albany will attempt a bicycle hike to Hartselle and back Saturday. This trip is under the auspices of the Y. M. C. A., and will be in charge of Physical Director Arvidson.

Boys nine years and over are invited. It is suggested that each boy bring a lunch with him. All the boys will meet at the Y. M. C. A. Saturday morning not later than 8 o'clock. Any boy who does not happen to have a wheel, can probably secure one through some friend.

Listed below are some of the points of interest the boys have recently tramped to by foot: Trinity mountain and Cave, the Three Springs at Griffin's farm, San Souci Cave and Blue Spring near Flint Creek. The use of bicycles Saturday will be a new feature of hiking, and it is predicted it will be greatly enjoyed by the Twin-City boys.

Plans are afoot for a baseball match at Hartselle between all-star players of the hike party vs. Hartselle boys.

RINKY DINKS EVEN COUNT WITH HARTSELLE

The Decatur Rinky Dinks staged a last inning rally when Bailey and Lanier got on base and were brought home by Jeffries' triple winning the second game of a series of four from the Hartselle boys by a score of 8 to 7. The game was well played for a boys' game and was very exciting.

The score was tied in the ninth and when the local boys came to the bat they were determined that the game would not go an extra inning. Herman Bailey hit for one base and was advanced to third by Jesse Lanier's two-bagger. Here, "Happy" Jeffries, who had relieved Lanier on the mound, swatted the pill for a triple and broke up the game. This win by the Rinky Dinks makes it one all as the Hartselle aggregation won the opening game of the series 10 to 7.

The Rinky Dinks go to Hartselle today and tomorrow and will try to bring back the bacon by capturing both games. They have been strengthened by the addition of Jeffries and West to their line-up. The Hartselle boys and the men who brought them here in their cars were warm in their praise of the conduct of the local boy players and the spectators, stating, "they were treated fine."

The games are being promoted by the boys' work department of the Y. M. C. A. and the Rinky Dinks are coached by Robert D. Edwards, boys' work director of the "Y." The line-up for yesterday's game was as follows:

A DAILY PRAYER—When the memories of du ties disregarded, noble impulses disobeyed and deeds of kindness and pity left undone, may Thou in some way help us to dare seek Thy for giveness.

Those who fan the flames of interest in good causes cannot bear the odor of poison winds.

There is more pleasure in pursuit than in pos session say the wise—at least more people hav that pleasure, than actual possession.

Judge Caverly is said to be very resourceful.
He might release those malefactors and hang an alienist.

McCoy, the pugilist, wooer of women and maul er of men, occupying a jail in the Los Angeles jail may draw slight sympathy, but here is the other side of the story: Mrs. Mary E. Selby, aged mother of Kid McCoy was reported to be dying at her home here today. Mrs. Selby collapsed when her son became involved.

Sometime when you feel particularly disgrunt led at the manner in which America moves, pick out some intelligent naturalized citizen in your community and have a heart to heart talk with him. Ask him to contrast, for you, the condi tions he left behind him with the conditions he finds over here. The conversation will be a stimu lant to your jagged patriotism.

The Southern Exposition to be held in New York city within a few months will have a space devoted to an exhibit from the Twin Cities and this section of the Tennessee Valley, as well as from all parts of the South. Those promoting the great enterprise are calling on the newspapers to arouse universal interest in the exposition. W.
N. Mitchell, general agent for the Southeast of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad says that "every southern newspaper should get behind this south ern exposition and promote it with all their power —and that power is the greatest of all. The va rious states should appropriate necessary funds to give their exhibits and to show to the country
what the south has, its cotton, its cotton produced goods, its minerals, its timbers—and then above all with the representatives of that exposition to show the hospitality that the south offers to all that came into her midst."

As far back as 1895, when Mr. Mitchell visit ed the South, he is seen from a reliable account of his estimate of the South at that time to have been a pioneer booster of the future of this sec tion of the country.

The account says:

He made the statement then that it was just a question of time in his judgment, and a very short time, when all the cotton mills of the United States would be established in this section and that later on the textile manufact urers making the machinery to convert the raw materials into the finished product would also be moved south, as they would be nearer to the raw product and to the manufactured article.

Labor conditions of the south are ideal, Mr.
Mitchell said, and adding that when New England mills begin their migration to the south they should not bring down their own labor, which consists of the foreign born. If they desire to manufacture a grade of cotton goods new to the south then let them bring down a few of their experts to teach the southern boy and girl how to make it, in this way keeping the south as it is today and not as is New England. For in that territory in many of the mills the week's work chalked up on the blackboard is in from five to seven lan guages, while every mill in the south uses but one language—and that language is English.

As long as the south maintains this ideal la bor condition it will have the greatest ad vancement of any section of our country.

Some of the southern states have already ap propriated large sums of money to be used in mak ing state displays at the New York exposition.
Alabama people are sure to seek to sell our state at the big gathering, as the greatest common wealth in the south or at least the state's natural resources and assured future places it first among all Southern states.

Swiss and French astronomers may wrangle over the possibility of signaling to Mars, they may announce from Alpine observatories that it is snowing on our next door planetary neighbor, but the fact remains for all who look into the heavens that there is now a visible "star" more brilliant than any of the rest. It's glow imme diately spots it, but it is so much larger than it has ever appeared to mortals now living that it would seem that some new planet had smum into the heavens of the evening star-gazer. It is the old Mars, only closer to the earth. In fact, it is now nearer to the earth heavsofnecmf cmf cmfwem nearer this world than it will be for another 500 years.

It is for this reason that astronomers in the United States, South America, in France, in Switzerland are paying special attention to it dur ing these August nights. On the top of Mount Jungfrau the most powerful telescopes ever made are being trained upon it. Its canals are being studied as never before. It's "atmosphere" is the object of tireless vigils. The answer to the ques tion, is there life on Mars? is sought in painstaking effort. Soon wireless messages will be broad cast in foolish hopes that the ether waves may find at the end of their journey receiving sets of listening in Martians. This is expecting consid erable of these neighbors to whom Marconi is not even a name in an unknown tongue.

But let the astronomers settle this point among themselves. Mars is a general possession just now. It belongs as much to the watchers of the skies on the top of Iroquois Park hill as to the pry ing astronomers on Mount Jungfrau. It may not be as readily recognized by the unscientific, but it is there and it is an important part of the picture.
—Courier-Journal (Louisville).

Chicago health officials should get a few poin
ers from Alabama health officials on how to elim inate the mosquito. In Chicago, for instance, the people are confronted with the problem of combat ing a scourge of mosquitoes which has descend ed upon Chicago and its suburbs. It is stated that the mosquitoes have appeared in such numbers that it was not possible for golf players to remain on the links Sunday. For Chicago, this is serious.

While the Windy City is fighting off mosqui toes, Alabama counties are notifying the world that they have conquered the mosquito evil and are enjoying a period of complete rest from mos quito visitation. This is the word sent out from Huntsville concerning the success of the health campaign in Madison county, which has resulted in victory for sanitation over the pest.

Public health work in Madison county has been so thorough and so successful that Huntsville be lieves the United States Public Health Service will take that city and county as models of health work. The Huntsville dispatch says:

That it is probable that Madison county's health unit will be made a training station for health of ficers and other workers in the public health ser vice was learned today. In the past several years health and sanitary officers have been sent here for field training and have gained much practi cal experience. The public health service recog nizes this as a model unit and its work is know throughout the nation. The health board an nounces that its work for the elimination of mos quito breeding places in practically the whole of Madison county has been completed and that this will be a mosquito-less year for the first time in history.

Similar work is being done in other Alabama counties, Calhoun being one in which fine work of the health department is shown in results. How much better this is than to have to do as Chicago
now is doing; send out a call for help in fighting mosquitoes that might have been kept away with proper work looking to the prevention of their ap pearance—Anniston Star.

(Associated Press)

NASHVILLE, Tenn., Aug. 27.— Madison B. Green, 32, manager of the dairy department of a local manu facturing company, shot and instan tly killed Martin Poole, 28, grocer's clerk, in the bedroom of the Green home in the Inglewood suburb this

Green's bond was fixed at $7,500 and he was released. Officers on the case found Poole lying on the floor of the room, with a .45 bullet wound behind his right ear. Green refused to discuss the shooting with news paper men, but officers quoted him as saying that instead of coming to work early this morning, as he had announced, he had secreted himself in the basement of his home and hear ing Poole, whose actions he had been watching for two weeks, enter the house, he went upstairs.

His wife, he was quoted as say ing, ran from the room as he en tered and shot Poole.

Mrs. Green told officers that Poole was at the home to dress a chicken, but refused to discuss the shooting further until she had consulted an at torney.

Poole, a widower, leaves two chil dren. The Greens have a four-year old son.

The Best None too Good

"After many years of stomach suffering I have at last found a remedy for that trouble. But believe me it was a timely find. I couldn't have lasted a great while longer. My stomach would bloat with gas like a barrel and the colics got to be awful. Medicine didn't help much until I got hold of Mayr's Wonderful Remedy, which did the trick. I am telling everyone about it." It is a simple, harmless preparation that removes the catarrhal mucus from the intestinal tract and allays the inflammation which causes practically all stomach, liver and intestinal ailments, including appendicitis. Georgia Lady Says She Has Grown Stronger by Taking Cardul—Thoroughly Convinced of Its Merits.

Citaville, Ga.—In a statement which she gave at her home on R. F. D. 1, here, Mrs. T. A. Copeland said: "I have, I believe, avoided a good deal of suffering by the use of Cardul, and am thoroughly convinced that it has been of great benefit to me."

"Before the birth of two of my children, I grew so weak and nervous I could hardly go, and suffered. I had a friend who told me of Cardul, so the next time when I grew so weak and run-down I began to use it. I used it three months. I grew stronger and less nervous. The baby was stronger and a better baby, and I really believe it was because I built up my strength with this splendid tonic."

Cardul has been in successful use for more than forty years. Thousands of women have written to tell of the beneficial results obtained by taking Cardul, and to recommend it to others. It is a mild, harmless, purely vegetable medicinal preparation—a product of practical experience, scientific investigation and pharmaceutical skill. Sold everywhere. NC-150

MY HUSBAND'S LOVE

Adelle Garrison's New Phase of Revelations of a Wife

The Way Lillian Rushed Madge and Mollie Fawcett Away from the Apartment.

MOLLIE FAWCETT and I fled obediently after Lillian as she almost ran down the front stairs of the apartment building.

I was in front of Mollie, and I was unreasonably conscious that the girl's eyes were fixed upon me during our brief progress to the door. The realization broke upon me that even as I was covertly studying her, she secretly was watching me, and the question "Why?" loomed before me as vividly as the danger signal at a railroad crossing.

Lillian's hand was upon the door when a husky voice from the rear of the hall called:

"Oh Miss Underwood!" Glancing down, I saw the old janitor, Schwartz, bucket and mop in hand, hurrying toward her. He put down the implements of his early morning cleaning before he reached her, and when next he spoke his voice was what he fondly believed to be a whisper, but I distinctly caught several times the words "trunk" and "check."

Lillian gave a hasty assent to his whispered confidence and dismissed him with a hearty:

"Thank you, very much, Mr. Schwartz."

What is Lillian's Plan? This sent the old work-beating upon the woman and me in particular. I smiled cordially at the rotund old chap as he exuberantly greeted me, but my eyes and thoughts were upon Lillian. There had not been the slightest flicker of her eyelids toward me as she talked with the old janitor, yet I knew that she would have given much had I not been near enough to overhear his whispering.

I realized with a sudden acceleration of my pulses that neither my trunk nor the costly fur garments which Mollie Fawcett had brought to Mollie's home, that Mollie had induced Katie to hide for her in the farmhouse attic, and which I had rushed to Lillian, were anywhere in our apartment, or I should have seen them.

Lillian, with the aid of Mr. Schwartz, must have sent them to some place of concealment. And yet in both our minds there was a strong suspicion, amounting almost to a certainty, that the goods did not rightfully belong to the people, whoever they were, who had made long, youthful Mollie Fawcett their messenger.

Why had Lillian come this? With an annoyed little frown back from her eyes, I grimly reminded myself that I remained on the mental track to which I appeared to have switched my brain, I should be nothing but an animated interrogation point after the word "Why?" by the time we reached the farmhouse. But with the determination to let no thoughts enter my mind save those involved in making the journey home as safe as my care could accomplish, I walked to the side of my car, in which Harry Underwood was seated, with the intention of depositing my bag in the tonneau.

"Did I understand?" He was out of the car, hat in hand, before my hand had touched the door, however, and, taking the bag from me placed it in the car. Then he turned back, with a charming bow to Lillian and stood palpably awaiting an introduction to Mollie Fawcett.

With her lip quivering into a sad little smile Lillian nodded almost imperceptibly to me, and then turning her back upon us, went to the other car in which sat the two men she had summoned, and spoke in low, rapid tones, evidently giving them the directions for driving me out of the city.

I answered Mr. Underwood's expectant look, and Lillian's nod by murmuring a few perfunctory words of introduction. That he was actually started at Mollie Fawcett's unusual beauty, I knew by the expression in his eyes, which appraised her, however, as coolly as if she had been some new and beautiful variety of flower brought to him for inspection. Her stare at him was equally intent, although in it was ingenious youthful admiration instead of mental weighing.

The next minute Lillian had hurried both Mollie and me into my car, one of the men to whom she had been speaking had taken the driver's seat, and we were off, the other car closely following behind.

I turned to wave a good-bye, and as I saw Lillian and Harry Underwood standing together on the sidewalk, both waving to us, I felt my heart constrict with a sudden regret for the days that were an irrevocably past, when they thus had done things together.

Mollie Fawcett's eyes had followed mine, but she had not waved, evidently thinking that the gesture of farewell was all for me. But her voice was filled with unconscious youthful curiosity as she asked diffidently:

"Did I understand you correctly, Mrs. Graham? Was that gentleman's name Underwood?"

With sudden, unreasoning irritation, I said to myself that there was no reason for me to enlighten her very patient—and natural—curiosity concerning the identity of the man and woman we had left upon the sidewalk, and I had hard work to keep my voice from curtness, as I answered laconically:

"But I need not have feared further questioning from Mollie Fawcett. She gave me a polite, indifferent 'Thank you,' which yet subtly told me that she had understood and accepted the rebuff, and spoke no more for the remainder of the drive through the city traffic.

THE HOME KITCHEN

By JEANNETTE YOUNG NORTON

The Authority on Home Cooking

Try One of These New Dishes Every Week-Day.

A WELL-KNOWN cook was asked recently how she learned to cook in such variety, and answered that she had made it a habit for years to make a new dish each day—not an extravagant or difficult dish, but just using an old recipe in a new way, and thus she piled up methods, recipes and experience that to-day are the assets of her hands. Almost all families like new dishes, and variety makes the table attractive.

Hot Prune Soup.

Soak a half pound of large prunes overnight, after thoroughly washing them, then stew them without adding sugar. Cool the fruit, remove the stones and chop fine. Soak a half cupful of sage in enough water to cover for one hour, then add a quart of cold water and cook in a double boiler until transparent. Add a saltspoonful of salt, the cooked fruit, a cupful of orange juice and sweeten to taste. Serve hot with toasted croutons.

Chowder Moderne.

Take a large can of tomatoes and pour out a pint with an equal amount of water. Add a minced onion, half a bud of garlic, crushed, a half cupful of minced celery leaves and parsley, and the liquor strained from two dozen clams that have been chopped coarsely. Cook gently for twenty minutes, then add the clams and two cupfuls of diced raw potato. Two dozen soft clams are sufficient. Add pepper, salt, cook fifteen minutes and thicken slightly with a little butter and flour rubbed to a smooth paste. Add three slices of dried and fried bacon. Serve hot.

Lobster Bisque.

Boil one lobster weighing a pound and a half to two pounds. Remove the meat and cut it very fine. Throw the shells into a saucepan with chopped onion, some chopped celery stalks or leaves, a slice of bacon, and a quart of water that potatoes have been boiled in. Cook gently for twenty minutes. Strain and add a quart of rich milk. Bring to boiling point, then add the juice of an onion, a saltspoonful of paprika, parsley, a saltspoonful of pepper, and thicken with roux to the consistency of cold honey. When thick and smooth add the lobster meat and let stand long enough to heat through thoroughly. Lift from the fire and add a cupful of heavy cream, thoroughly heated, but not boiled. Serve immediately.

Salt Codfish Tarts.

Soak overnight a piece of salt cod fish, seven inches square, changing the water twice, if possible. In the morning add fresh water and allow the fish to come to boiling point. Repeat the scalding a second time, then free the fish from skin and bone and flake it fine. Fold the fish into a cupful and a half of rich cream sauce. Have ready seven half-pint lined with good short crust, fill them with the fish mixture, sprinkle the top with a few fine dry crumbs, dust with a little pepper and bake until the crust is done.

Stuffed Filets of Sole. Select a short, thick flounder and have it cut in six filets. Make a savory stuffing of crumbs, butter, seasoning, a beaten egg and a little cream to bind the mixture. Dip each filet into melted butter, spread thickly with the stuffing, lay on another filet, sandwich fashion, place them on a buttered baking dish, dust with pepper and salt, sprinkle with a little grated cheese and minced parsley, dot with butter and bake for six minutes covered, and then uncover, baste with the dish gravy and bake ten minutes until a delicate brown. Serve with tartar sauce.

Tongue Mousse. Put a pound of freshly boiled smoked tongue through a fine meat chopper twice. Add to it a little cayenne pepper, a cupful of chicken jelly, whipped. Melt a teaspoonful of sugar in a half cupful of boiling water and add two tablespoonfuls of tarragon vinegar to it and beat all together. Fold in a cupful of heavy cream, stiffly whipped; then pour all into a wet mold, cover securely, putting a strip of greased paper under the crack, and bury in salt and ice for three hours. Turn on a bed of crisp lettuce and serve in slices. Tartar sauce may be served with the mousses, or Russian dressing.

YOUR HEALTH

What You Should Know About Dreaded Diabetes

By ROYAL S. COPELAND, M. D.

United States Senator from New York.
Former Commissioner of Health, New York City.

I HAVE a pathetic inquiry from a sufferer of diabetes in an advanced stage. She wants to know what can be done about it and how much treatment would be required to offset the years of suffering.

It is sad, indeed, that diabetic sufferers should reach this advanced stage and not know the cause of the trouble.

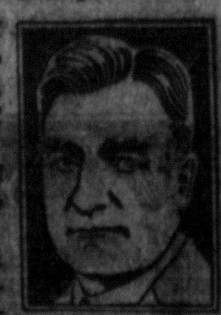

I am heartily in favor of physical examination at regular intervals. In my list of particular examinations are the teeth, tonsils, sinuses, the heart and the urine. Persons who are run down, overworked, worried or below par for any reason, should have a physical examination at least once a month.

As you know, any one below par is much more susceptible to disease than is a healthy person. Of course some of these diseases attack the healthy person. One of these diseases is diabetes. It attacks the tired, worried and over-worked person. Nervous and excitable persons are also affected.

One of the first symptoms of diabetes is the large amount of urine passed in the twenty-four hours. Under normal circumstances a person passes about one quart of urine. In diabetes there is a marked increase in the flow of urine. It may be three quarts, even a gallon passed during the day and night. Consequently the amount of water and other fluid taken is greatly increased.

The appetite in general is increased, but particularly so in the yearning for sugar, starches and fats. As in any other sickness, the patient craves the things he should not have.

Many other symptoms follow in rapid succession. There are indigestion, loss of weight, disturbances of vision, such as cataract and blindness. The skin itches, there may be an inclination to drowsy, and as the disease progresses, boils and pimples and even real infections develop.

Calmness of mind, freedom from worry, strict adherence to the diet prescribed by the doctor and general observance of the simple rules of right living are important.

Bodily warmth, a daily bath, plenty of sleep in a well-ventilated room and a moderate amount of properly-directed exercise are all of great benefit.

The diet must be practically free of sugar, starches and fats. Lean meat, certain fresh vegetables, nuts and other starch-and-sugar-free foods may be taken.

The medical treatment must be outlined by the doctor. He will advise you if he feels that serum treatment of any kind is needed.

Answers to Health Questions

MRS. A. D. Q.—What is a good disinfectant to use in a damp cellar or an apartment where there is a disagreeable odor?

A.—Absolute cleanliness, fresh air and sunlight is essential. For disinfection use in very good. Use as directed on the bottle.

V. H. R. Q.—Does lemon juice and peroxide, applied to the face, harm the skin?

A.—What is a good remedy for chapped hands?

A.—No; this will not harm your skin.

2.—Wash your hands with a non-irritating soap. Dry thoroughly after washing, and at night apply cold cream. This will help to improve the condition of your hands.

SANDY. Q.—What can I do to cure continuous headaches?

A.—The most common causes of headaches are eyestrain, infected teeth, tonsils and sinuses, constipation, indigestion, auto-intoxication, high blood-pressure, kidney condition or catarrh. A thorough physical examination and a complete eye test will usually locate the source of the trouble.

Dr. Copeland will answer for readers of this paper questions on medical hygiene and sanitation subjects that are of general interest. Where the subject of a letter is such that it cannot be published in this column, Dr. Copeland will, when the question is a proper one, write you personally if a self-addressed stamped envelope is enclosed. Address ALL INQUIRIES to Dr. Royal S. Copeland, in care of this office, Albany, N. Y., c/o Albany-Decatur Daily.

It is going to give you a good, old-fashioned treatment for hair on the arms. The only article you need buy from the drug list is—

A cake of pumice stone.

Rub your arms with this and the hairs will be worn off. Be very careful, however, not to irritate the skin, for if you are too hasty in your treatment the skin will become red and irritated. Apply a good cold cream to your arms after the treatment.

WHERE A DOOR ON YOUR HOUSE MEANS IMPORTANCE.

PERU, that mysterious country conquered by the gallant Spaniard Pizarro, hundreds of years ago, the land of the forgotten Incas, is to a certain extent still an unknown country.

Although Peru has progressed far ous amount of mineral wealth as yet unexplored and buried deep under the protecting peaks of the Andes Mountains.

Silver mines are scattered all over the country. They are said to contain fabulous sums of silver ore and are worked by the Peruvian Indians, who usually live within a few hundred feet of the particular mine in which they may be employed.

The huts of these Indian miners are crude and unique affairs, built of old wood and stone, and having no doors or windows by which to enter. An opening in the side or front of the dwelling, just large enough for a man to squeeze himself through, serves as a door or window as the case may be. Indeed, if a man is fortunate enough to have a door on his hut he is considered a person of prominence.

Advice to Girls

By Annie Laurie

DEAR ANNIE LAURIE:

I am a girl still in my teens and have been going with a young man one year for my senior for almost a year. I love him most dearly and he seems to think a great deal of me. My neighbors tell me he takes other girls out car-riding. He tells me he doesn't. Should I believe him or my neighbors?

Please advise me whether I should heed those people and discontinue our friendship.

BLUE EYES.

BLUE EYES: Do not make the mistake, Blue Eyes, of trying to dictate the friendships of the young man just because you and he are friends. Supposing that he does go about with other girls and with you as well, why should he not do so since you are not engaged to him? And why do you not also go about with your other young men friends? There should not be hard feelings on either side.

It is only by meeting many young

Moulton News

Moulton, Ala., Aug. 27.—(Special.)—The Alabama Power company has made its introduction to Lawrence county by way of a transmission line across the northern or valley portion from east to west and paralleling the Tennessee river at a distance of five to eight miles through Hillsboro, Wheeler, Courtland and Town Creek; the company has opened up an office at Courtland in charge of a manager with stenographer. Promise is made that light and power may be furnished the town by the first of next March though this will likely be done much earlier. The company states that all titles to right-of-way have been secured and the work is to be hastened. It is likely that in only a few months after the line is completed other portions of the county will be given service. The line being built is from Decatur to Hopgood.

Lawrence county, always liberal in its patronage of the state normal at Florence, has six on the graduating list at the end of the summer school there last week. They are Mrs. Willie Mae Perry Clay, Misses Blanche and Grace Ellis, Mary Lou Jenkins, Lora Moody and Annie Pitt. Besides these graduates, Clebbie Wallace completes the course at Jacksonville Normal. Others have decided in the past two weeks to resign positions in the county schools for the coming session and continue their studies at the normal thus there is left a number of vacancies in the county.

A violent wind and dust storm swept over the central and southern part of Lawrence county Sunday afternoon. It lasted for thirty-five to forty-five minutes; small trees and limbs were broken and the air filled with blinding dust from the dry roads and fields. Monday felt a reaction from the storm by way of a touch of autumn in the atmosphere.

More children in Lawrence county will be housed in real school buildings next session than ever before, if nothing hinders the building program already in progress. A three-room building is well under way at Speake and one just completed at Mount Zion. Another of the same for the junior high school work is being erected at Hutton and one to begin at Mount Hope for the junior work at once. A one-room building is begun at Pine Hill and another two-room building at Caddo in the center of the district, while the older one is being repaired. Funds are being raised at Courtland for a four-room brick and at Moulton an eight-room brick is going up for the county high; the county has more than consumed its building fund apportionment and is asking for several thousand more dollars as aid from the state at the end of the month when a redistribution of funds is to be made.

Circuit court for Lawrence county ended a busy session Thursday. The first two weeks were in charge of Judge O. C. Kyle, of Decatur, and the third under James Ed Horton, of Athens. Eight murder cases were considered the most interesting being that of Herman Hughes who was charged with murdering a girl and sentenced to life imprisonment and the case of young Frank Terry, a deaf and dumb boy from near Courtland. He was charged with killing his cousin a few months ago; the two were engaged in a friendly scuffle which ended in the shooting. Young Terry very vividly portrayed the scene before the jury and the crowded court room. The deed performed in pantomime by young Terry was more impressive than the oral narration by any witness could have been. The jury asked sentence of a year and a day; it is said that Terry contemplates making an appeal. Frank Terry was a student at the school for the deaf at Talledega for several years and is considered a bright young fellow.

The campaign for new members made by the Lawrence county farm bureau during the week was rather effective since it added forty or more active members and as a result of the educational feature of it many others will become members in the course of a month or so; the membership is now around four hundred in the county.

Prin. W. T. Jordan, of the Lawrence county high school has returned from Columbia university where he has been for sometime completing his course; he and Mrs. Jordan will occupy the F. D. Gibson residence. The exact date for the high school opening has not yet been set although arrangements have been made for accommodation of the students until the building is ready for use.

Byron White, near Landersville, was injured by a kick from a mule Thursday. The animal hit him in the face just below the right eye dislocating his jaw bone and making a gash that had to be closed with several stitches. He is reported as being in a dangerous condition.

Mary Forrest Simms, who was taken to the hospital at Albany a week ago for an operation is reported as improving slowly. For several days her condition was so serious that her friends all but lost hope of recovery.

Misses Lula and Novei Almon, who have been spending a month with their mother and brother in Moulton, left Saturday for a brief visit with relatives in Albany before going to their school work in Florence city schools.

Dangerous ONLY to the Careless-

Safety is not a one-man job! Despite the precautions that the railroads have employed to safeguard the public against accident and death, thru warning signals, watchmen, crossing gates, etc., preventable disasters continue to occur.

Do your part in the great safety campaign being conducted by this and other American railroads. Let the trains have the right of way; the tracks were made for them and they cannot change their course to prevent an accident. Wait until the train stops before you attempt to get on or off. Do not use railroad tracks as a way to a loitering place. They are dangerous only to trespassers. Help us to save life and protect against accident.

The Louisville & Nashville Railroad spends nearly a million dollars a year for the single purpose of maintaining constant supervision over the condition of its tracks—850 track walkers are employed and every day they walk every mile of the main tracks of the road; inspecting rails, ties, bridges, etc. When you are on the train, every precaution is taken for your safety. Do as much to protect yourself when off the trains.

Common sense—Caution—Co-operation—will pay big dividends in health and happiness.

DO YOUR PART.
